

TELLS RAILROADERS THEY MUST WORK

McAdoo Issues Pointed Address to the Men on the Lines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—In a general order last night designed to clarify the relations between railroad administration and employees of the roads, Director General McAdoo emphasized that officials and workmen no longer are serving a private interest, but the government and the public only and that all must work together for the common object of defeating Germany.

That the greatest efficiency must be at all times maintained, the director-general ordered that all laws pertaining to the promotion of the safety of employees and passengers must be fully complied with, that where necessary men must work a reasonable amount of overtime, that the retention of men in their jobs will be determined by their fitness and character of service rendered and that no discrimination shall be made against any employee because of membership or non-membership in labor organizations.

Pointing out that in the enforcement of laws and orders for the promotion of safety on the roads, it would be futile to impose fines for the violation upon the government, the director-general said that it would become his duty to impose punishments for willful and inexcusable violations upon the person or persons responsible, the punishment to be determined by the facts.

Special emphasis is laid in the order to an erroneous impression drawn from an order of last December 23, which provides that all officers, agents and employees of the railroads must continue in the positions they then held. Many employees apparently had interpreted the order as designated to prevent any change in the terms of employment during governmental operation.

This interpretation, the director-general said, was entirely erroneous, the purpose having merely been to confirm all terms of employment existing on that date, but subject to subsequent modifications deemed advisable for the requirements of the service.

LOCAL SOCIAL EVENTS

Gave Splendid Entertainment.

The classes in American history of the Fairmont High school yesterday gave an interesting patriotic entertainment in the auditorium of the school. The entertainment was in the nature of a patriotic play and was given in observance of the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Miss Don Lee Newman, teacher of history in the high school, was in charge of the affair which was highly pleasing to those who were present. The stage settings were unusually attractive and the cast of characters composed of young men and women of the history classes performed in a splendid manner.

Rev. Charles Earl Mitchell, rector of Christ church, gave an interesting talk along patriotic lines to the pupils and Mrs. W. H. Conaway, regent of the William Raymond chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, made a brief talk and announced that the chapter would give a prize of five dollars to the pupil who made the highest grade in American history during the year.

The history classes of the high school have made splendid progress in their work and in addition to regular class duties have packed and shipped a large number of letters and articles for the soldiers in training and abroad.
